We are searching for a Spanish native speaker student to work as a Studentische Hilfskraft (SHK) 6hrs/week for 6 months (with Bachelor degree), or 8hrs/week for 6 months (without Bachelor degree). The student will support a research project that involves categorization of Twitter data. Details of the activities are as follows:

- The student will work with Twitter data collected from users in Colombia.
- Using a predefined tool, the student will read and assign each Tweet to some specific categories.
- The average time to classify one Tweet is 20-30 seconds.
- It is important that the student is a native speaker, preferably from the Latin-American region, because of local language variations that could jeopardize and slow down the classification process.
- Working and communication language will be Spanish.

Interested students please write an Email to Yrneh Ulloa (she/her) at ulloa-to@hm.edu. The SHK position is offered from October 2021 onwards.
